Dear Students,

Every November, the Faculty of Health Sciences hosts its Scientific Student Conference, welcoming applications from students on any research topic related to health sciences. The conference is scheduled for November 30, 2023. Faculty applications should be submitted on the provided form next to the bulletin board by October 15. Formal conference applications will be accepted on the university's TDK website until November 15 at the latest.

After submitting the application, the system will generate a PDF document that must be printed, signed, and submitted. Please send your abstract electronically by November 15 using the form sent to your email address. Sections will be organized after receiving the application forms.

This year, we extend our invitation to high school students and international students, with separate sessions planned for them.

In each section, students' presentations will be evaluated by an Evaluation Committee, awarding first, second, and third prizes, as well as special prizes. Twelve winners will have the opportunity to participate in the biennial National Student Conference, irrespective of their faculty completion status. The next OTDK is scheduled for 2025 at the University of Pécs.

Please send the application forms and abstracts to Barbara Guzi, Secretary of the Faculty SSC, at barbara.guzi@uni-miskolc.hu, or drop them off at office 209-s, 2nd floor.
